

THE GOLDEN GOOSE

Read the texts in the boxes and number them from 1 to 8 to sequence the fairy tale

He started two other quests. Simpleton had to find a man who could drink a cellar full of wine and then he had to bring a ship which could sail on land and on water. With the help of the dwarf he could do these two jobs successfully and the King had to give his daughter to him. Simpleton and the princess got married and lived happily.

He took the goose and went to an inn, where he decided to spend the night. He went to sleep leaving the goose unattended. The innkeeper's three daughters saw it and they wanted to get one of its feathers. The eldest sister got stuck fast to the goose as soon as she touched it. Then other two sister stuck as well while trying to help her.

There was once a man who had three sons. The youngest one was always mocked by his brothers and was called Simpleton. The man was getting old and he wasn't strong anymore, so he asked his eldest son to go to the woods to chop wood for the winter. His mother gave him one sweet cake and a bottle of wine and he left home.

His mother gave him a sweet cake and a bottle of wine as well. He also saw the dwarf on his way and he refused to share his food and drink. When he started chopping wood, he hurt himself and had to go back home just like the eldest one. This time Simpleton begged his father to go and do the job, so he had to give him the permission.

Anyone who could make her daughter laugh could marry the princess. She would never laugh. Simpleton thought this convoy of people and a goose was funny enough and he went to the King's daughter. She laughed so hard when she saw them. Now, he could marry the princess, but the King thought he was too simple to marry his daughter.

On his way he met a dwarf, who asked him for something to eat and drink, but he refused and left the dwarf behind. But the dwarf wasn't ordinary and he put a spell on the boy. As soon as the eldest brother started chopping wood, he hurt himself and had to go back home. So the second brother had to go and do the job instead.

In the morning Simpleton took the goose and made his way to the town with the sisters stuck to it. While walking like that, two vicars and two woodcutters, who wanted to pull others away from the goose, joined the group. Simpleton and a train of seven entered the city. On the way Simpleton heard King's message.

The mother gave the youngest brother a loaf of old bread and a bottle of sour beer and he set off. On his way he saw the dwarf and he shared his food and drink with him. The dwarf was grateful and told him that he would find a gift in the roots of a tree. Simpleton cut the tree and found a golden goose in the roots. It had pure gold feathers.

THE GOLDEN GOOSE

Read the texts in the boxes and number them from 1 to 8 to sequence the fairy tale

8

He started two other quests. Simpleton had to find a man who could drink a cellar full of wine and then he had to bring a ship which could sail on land and on water. With the help of the dwarf he could do these two jobs successfully and the King had to give his daughter to him. Simpleton and the princess got married and lived happily.

5

He took the goose and went to an inn, where he decided to spend the night. He went to sleep leaving the goose unattended. The innkeeper's three daughters saw it and they wanted to get one of its feathers. The eldest sister got stuck fast to the goose as soon as she touched it. Then other two sister stuck as well while trying to help her.

1

There was once a man who had three sons. The youngest one was always mocked by his brothers and was called Simpleton. The man was getting old and he wasn't strong anymore, so he asked his eldest son to go to the woods to chop wood for the winter. His mother gave him one sweet cake and a bottle of wine and he left home.

3

His mother gave him a sweet cake and a bottle of wine as well. He also saw the dwarf on his way and he refused to share his food and drink. When he started chopping wood, he hurt himself and had to go back home just like the eldest one. This time Simpleton begged his father to go and do the job, so he had to give him the permission.

7

Anyone who could make her daughter laugh could marry the princess. She would never laugh. Simpleton thought this convoy of people and a goose was funny enough and he went to the King's daughter. She laughed so hard when she saw them. Now, he could marry the princess, but the King thought he was too simple to marry his daughter.

2

On his way he met a dwarf, who asked him for something to eat and drink, but he refused and left the dwarf behind. But the dwarf wasn't ordinary and he put a spell on the boy. As soon as the eldest brother started chopping wood, he hurt himself and had to go back home. So the second brother had to go and do the job instead.

6

In the morning Simpleton took the goose and made his way to the town with the sisters stuck to it. While walking like that, two vicars and two woodcutters, who wanted to pull others away from the goose, joined the group. Simpleton and a train of seven entered the city. On the way Simpleton heard King's message.

4

The mother gave the youngest brother a loaf of old bread and a bottle of sour beer and he set off. On his way he saw the dwarf and he shared his food and drink with him. The dwarf was grateful and told him that he would find a gift in the roots of a tree. Simpleton cut the tree and found a golden goose in the roots. It had pure gold feathers.

ANSWER KEY

